Randy Lee to be inducted to builders Hall of Fame

R. Randy Lee, Esq., principal of Leewood Real Estate Group, founding partner of Lee & Amtzis, LLP and chairman of the board of the Building Industry Association of New York City, will be recognized for his extensive contributions to the building industry as he is inducted into the New York State Builders Association Hall of Fame on October 7, 2004.

The Hall of Fame, sponsored by NYSBA's Research and Education Foundation and underwritten by the State of New York Mortgage Agency (SONYMA), recognizes and honors individuals who have made significant and lasting contributions to the housing industry in New York State.

R. Randy Lee has been active in New York State's housing and real estate industries for over four decades.

He is not only one of the most active and experienced low rise developers in New York City but a strong advocate for affordable and workforce housing statewide.

Lee has built more than 4,000 homes and apartments, of which more than 2,000 were completed in conjunction with the NYC Housing Partnership.

In addition to this, his contributions to builders statewide include his expertise on legal, land development and no growth issues. In addition to his current positions, Lee served as president of the Building Industry Association of New York in 1992 and 1993.

NYC's Mayor Bloomberg appointed him

He has been a board member and advisor to the New York State Builders Association and the National Association of Home Builders for more than 20 years.

Lee currently serves as Chairman of NAHB's Legal Action Committee and as a member of NAHB's Executive Board. In 2003, as the only builder/developer of the 17 member Staten Island Growth Management Task Force.

The NYSBA Hall of Fame is underwritten by SONYMA.

SONYMA offers innovative homeownership programs, each designed to make homeownership a reality for families and individuals with low and moderate incomes.

SONYMA's website (www.nyhomes.org) provides detailed information about SONYMA loans, including eligibility requirements, frequently asked questions and a list of Participating Lenders. Interested individuals may also call 1-800-382-HOME for more information.

NYSBA REF's goal is to promote scholarship and educational opportunities in addition to research studies and training programs.

NYSBA REF is the philanthropic arm of the New York State Builders Association (NYSBA), a not-for-profit trade association comprised of 17 local affiliates across the state.

NYSBA represents 3,500 builder, remodeler, developer, and associate member firms across New York State.
